Etta Young, - Apr? 1892
Another sad death occurred in the family of William Young last Friday when his daughter, Etta, followed her mother, who had died just one week before. Miss Young and her mother both contracted a severe cold at a fire who weeks ago Sunday, which brought on pneumonia, and caused the death of both. Much sympathy is expressed for the husband and father in his double loss, and to the remaining members of the family. Miss Young's funeral took place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

[Harriet] Mussett, - Jan. 10, 1892
Died- Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, Mrs. John Mussett. Deceased had been confined to the house with poor health for some years, suffering greatly from asthma and throat troubles. Her husband and daughter survive her. Funeral took place from the family residence at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

— Schaich, 1873 - Jan. 24, 1892
Died - Five miles west of here on Sunday night, Jan., the 24, 1892, Mrs. Nicholas Schaich, at the age of 19 years. Mrs. Schaich had not fully recovered from an attack of pneumonia when she was taken with la gripp to whose relentless grasp she soon succumbed. Her remains were interred at the Ridge cemetery on Monday following at 1 p.m.

Susan Knight, Sep. 22, 1835 - Mar. 21, 1892
Died - At her house near Phillipstown, White Co, IL, April 21st, 1892, Mrs. Susan Knight, (widow of the late William Knight), aged 55 years, of inflammatory rheumatism. Deceased leaves three sons and two daughters to mourn her loss.

[Mary L.] Mollie Heniken, Oct. 28, 1870 - Mar. 21, 1892
Died - at her home in Cowling, Monday evening, March 21, Miss Mollie Heniken, aged 20 years. Miss Heniken was a very estimable young lady, and had been a long and patient sufferer from consumption, which ravishing disease baffled every remedy, although everything that loving hearts and willing hands could do had been done. Three weeks ago she returned from Florida where she had journeyed in the hope that the balmy climate would prove beneficial to her health, but it was of no avail, and the wasted form was tenderly laid to rest in the Antioch cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

[William] Gillison Boultinghouse, Mar. 28, 1873 - Apr. 30, 1892
Died - At his home near this city, of pneumonia, Gillison Boultinghouse, aged 19 years. He was a young man much respected and well liked by all who knew him. Until a few weeks ago he was in the best of health, and his death was a sad shock to the remaining members of the family, five brothers and two sisters, who have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Charles Melrose, Feb. 15, 1841 - Jul. 23, 1892
After long and patient suffering, Mr. Charles Melrose died at his home in this city, Saturday evening, July 23, 1892, aged 51 years. Deceased was born in Wayne county and there spent his boyhood days. When the war broke out, although quite young, he enlisted and served his country without fear or flinching. In 1865, he married Miss Margaret Franklin, and to them one child was born, a daughter now grown to womanhood. Shortly after his marriage, he removed with his family to this city where he has since resided.

While in the war, Mr. Melrose contracted the disease which eventually brought on that most fatal disease, consumption, from which he suffered many months. The funeral took place from the house Monday afternoon. An impressive sermon was delivered by Rev. J.G. Harmon, of Albion, from the text selected by the deceased some time before his death. A large concourse of friends were in attendance, and the GAR paid their respect to their dead comrade by attending in a body.

John Tate, ~ 1839 - Aug. 7, 1892

Died - At his home five miles northwest of Grayville, Sunday, Aug. 7th, after a protracted illness, Mr. John Tate, aged 53 years. Mr. Tate was a prosperous and well-known farmer, having lived in this part of the country from his boyhood. The funeral took place Monday afternoon and was largely attended by relatives and friends. After an impressive service, the body was laid to rest in the Hassell cemetery near Olive church.